Pfizer's Innovative Programs Aim to Strengthen Africa's Health Sector

(BUSINESS WIRE)--The Corporate Council on Africa (CCA) announced today that Pfizer Inc will sponsor the 7th Biennial U.S. - Africa Business Summit: Realizing the Investment Power of Africa, to be held at the Walter E. Washington Convention Center in Washington, D.C., September 29 - October 1, 2009.

At a Pfizer-sponsored workshop titled Mobilizing Resources for Strengthening African Health Systems: A Case Study of Pfizer's Global Health Fellows, Charles Shafran, former Pfizer global health fellow, will provide analysis of the obstacles that face Africa's health sector. He will be joined by Gregory J. Hills, managing director of FSG Social Impact Advisors; Mary Jordan, senior technical advisor on public-private partnerships of USAID; Robin Smalley, international director and co-founder of Mothers2Mothers; and Mark Chiaviello, director of corporate and investment banking of Standard Bank. The discussion will be moderated by Caroline Roan, Pfizer's vice president of corporate responsibility.

"We are pleased to welcome CCA member Pfizer as a sponsor of the summit," said Stephen Hayes, president and CEO of CCA. "Pfizer's Global Health Fellows program is an exceptional example of how successful partnerships in Africa teach and sustain the communities they serve."

Since 2003, over 200 Pfizer professionals have volunteered to work with non-profit and government healthcare providers through Pfizer's Global Health Fellows program to help support and grow national healthcare infrastructure, mainly in developing countries. Both CCA members Africare and the African Medical & Research Foundation have partnered with Pfizer professionals to share knowledge and expertise; The Pfizer Global Health Fellows program will be a highlight at this year's U.S. - Africa Business Summit.

The three-day summit is expected to attract more than 2,000 leaders from the private and public sectors in the U.S. and Africa. Participants will have the opportunity to network with key African and U.S. private sector and government representatives and attend more than 60 industry-specific sessions and workshops. Through an electronic matchmaking program, summit registrants may schedule meetings with Pfizer by registering at: <http://meetings.pgcedc.com/register.html>. Registrants may also schedule meetings with companies from other sectors including agribusiness, financial services, infrastructure, natural resources, development, and tourism.
