

STATEMENT FROM PFIZER INC. (“PFIZER”)

Monday, May 12, 2014 - 10:05pm

Pfizer’s Possible Offer for AstraZeneca plc (“AstraZeneca”) Represents Compelling Shareholder Value

NOT FOR RELEASE, PUBLICATION OR DISTRIBUTION IN WHOLE OR IN PART IN, INTO OR FROM ANY JURISDICTION WHERE TO DO SO WOULD CONSTITUTE A VIOLATION OF THE RELEVANT LAWS OR REGULATIONS OF THAT JURISDICTION.

13 MAY 2014

This is an announcement of a possible offer falling under Rule 2.4 of the City Code on Takeovers and Mergers (the “Code”). It does not represent a firm intention to make an offer under Rule 2.7 of the Code. Accordingly, there can be no certainty that any offer will ultimately be made.

Rationale for a combination is compelling—strategic, financial and operational benefits
Presents significant value creation opportunity for AstraZeneca shareholders
Substantial premium and significant cash component
Pfizer committed to developing and maintaining world class R&D capabilities
Pfizer confident on deliverability of transaction
Pfizer is keen to engage with the AstraZeneca Board

Pfizer today is publishing a presentation to the shareholders of AstraZeneca on the merits of a combination of the two companies. As indicated in its announcements on 28 April and 2 May 2014, Pfizer wishes to enter into discussions with AstraZeneca regarding a potential combination of the two companies and remains disappointed at the lack of engagement by the AstraZeneca Board. As laid out below, Pfizer believes there is compelling rationale for a combination and if AstraZeneca engages in conversations to provide Pfizer with a better understanding of its business and its prospects it may lead to a transaction that AstraZeneca can recommend. Pfizer continues to believe that engagement by the AstraZeneca Board is in the best interest of all stakeholders of both companies.

Compelling strategic rationale for a Pfizer/AstraZeneca combination:

Clinical, regulatory and reimbursement risks continue to increase the cost of drug development and the risk profile of the industry. Pfizer believes a combination of Pfizer and AstraZeneca would create an industry leader with the scale, operational efficiency, financial strength and breadth of portfolio to better address these challenges. Pfizer believes there is strong strategic, operational and financial rationale for a combination:

Strong strategic fit: Combination would enhance the innovative and established portfolios of both businesses; provide even more desirable product portfolio to enhance commercial position in key emerging markets and enhanced optionality to pursue future separation, though no decisions have been made. Strong operational fit: Combination expected to enhance global offerings for innovative business; strong combined R&D organisation and pipeline would support innovative growth; established business well-positioned to optimise portfolio lifecycles. Strong financial fit: Combination expected to create strong and consistent pro forma cash flow enabling continued investment in innovation and shareholder return; significant expected operational and financial synergies; efficient tax structure for combined operations and capital allocation; expected to be accretive to adjusted diluted EPS¹ in first full year and to accelerate adjusted diluted EPS growth thereafter²; ongoing value creation from anticipated operational and financial synergies. AstraZeneca's standalone business faces challenges:

Predictability of revenue loss – major products with total 2013A sales of circa $14 billion³ facing near-term patent expiration. Uncertainty of revenue potential – attractive but high-risk early stage pipeline that still requires significant investment. Competitive commercial dynamics require significant investments while topline pressured by major loss of exclusivity (“LOE”). Major LOEs will pressure margins and ability to return capital to shareholders. Late-stage pipeline less differentiated than early-stage pipeline. Potential lack of sufficient scale to compete against large national players in emerging markets.

Pfizer's business model with distinct innovative and established pharmaceutical businesses provides an opportunity to optimise AstraZeneca's complementary portfolios. Combined business expected to have the financial strength and stable pro forma cash flow essential to support continued investment in science and innovation while driving shareholder value.

Pfizer is committed to world class R&D capabilities:

Pfizer has a strong track record of integrating science and business to deliver value to patients, the health care system and shareholders. Pfizer's key R&D priorities include: Delivering high-value medicines and vaccines - six therapeutic areas (Immunology & Inflammation, CV & Metabolic Diseases, Oncology, Vaccines, Neuroscience & Pain, Rare Diseases) plus biosimilars, with 80 projects in clinical development and 13 approvals over the last four years. Advancing leading capabilities across multiple therapeutic modalities. Collaborating to shape the health innovation environment. Pfizer is reiterating its commitment to having at least 20% of the combined company's total R&D workforce in the United Kingdom going forward and creating a substantial innovation hub in Cambridge and the wider scientific community.

Pfizer's 2 May 2014 proposal offers AstraZeneca shareholders a significant and immediate value creation opportunity⁴:

Substantial premium to both AstraZeneca's unaffected share price and analyst price targets. Pfizer's 2 May 2014 proposal represents a 37% premium to the mean analyst price target as of 17 April 2014 of £36.565. The proposal also represents a 32% premium to AstraZeneca's closing share price of £37.82 on 17 April 2014 (the latest trading date preceding speculation of an offer by Pfizer for AstraZeneca). Significant cash component. Expected to be accretive to adjusted diluted EPS⁶ in first full year⁷ and ongoing value creation from anticipated operational and financial synergies: Expected strong and consistent pro forma cash flow enabling continued investment in innovation and shareholder return. Significant anticipated operational and financial synergies. Efficient tax structure for combined operations and capital allocation.

Pfizer is confident the transaction is deliverable:

Pfizer has assessed this transaction in detail and is confident it can be implemented. Transaction to be structured in a way that meets all applicable legal and tax jurisdiction requirements. Pfizer would not be embarking on a possible offer, incurring significant cost, without a high degree of confidence on deliverability.

Pfizer continues to want to engage with AstraZeneca:

AstraZeneca can work with Pfizer to help deliver optimal deal terms and structure. The possible offer put forward by Pfizer on 2 May 2014 was based solely on public information. Engagement would provide AstraZeneca management with the opportunity to provide Pfizer a better understanding of the business and its prospects, and the credible basis for their new long-range targets. Constructive engagement may lead to a transaction that AstraZeneca can recommend. Pfizer will continue to be disciplined on price.

Disclosure requirements of the Takeover Code (the “Code”)

Under Rule 8.3(a) of the Code, any person who is interested in 1% or more of any class of relevant securities of an offeree company or of any securities exchange offeror (being any offeror other than an offeror in respect of which it has been announced that its offer is, or is likely to be, solely in cash) must make an Opening Position Disclosure following the commencement of the offer period and, if later, following the announcement in which any securities exchange offeror is first identified. An Opening Position Disclosure must contain details of the person’s interests and short positions in, and rights to subscribe for, any relevant securities of each of (i) the offeree company and (ii) any securities exchange offeror(s). An Opening Position Disclosure by a person to whom Rule 8.3(a) applies must be made by no later than 3.30 pm (London time) on the 10th business day following the commencement of the offer period and, if appropriate, by no later than 3.30 pm (London time) on the 10th business day following the announcement in which any securities exchange offeror is first identified. Relevant persons who deal in the relevant securities of the offeree company or of a securities exchange offeror prior to the deadline for making an Opening Position Disclosure must instead make a Dealing Disclosure.

Under Rule 8.3(b) of the Code, any person who is, or becomes, interested in 1% or more of any class of relevant securities of the offeree company or of any securities exchange offeror must make a Dealing Disclosure if the person deals in any relevant securities of the offeree company or of any securities exchange offeror. A Dealing Disclosure must contain details of the dealing concerned and of the person's interests and short positions in, and rights to subscribe for, any relevant securities of each of (i) the offeree company and (ii) any securities exchange offeror, save to the extent that these details have previously been disclosed under Rule 8. A Dealing Disclosure by a person to whom Rule 8.3(b) applies must be made by no later than 3.30 pm (London time) on the business day following the date of the relevant dealing.

Disclosures are therefore required in the shares of Pfizer and AstraZeneca.

If two or more persons act together pursuant to an agreement or understanding, whether formal or informal, to acquire or control an interest in relevant securities of an offeree company or a securities exchange offeror, they will be deemed to be a single person for the purpose of Rule 8.3.

Opening Position Disclosures must also be made by the offeree company and by any offeror and Dealing Disclosures must also be made by the offeree company, by any offeror and by any persons acting in concert with any of them (see Rules 8.1, 8.2 and 8.4).

Details of the offeree and offeror companies in respect of whose relevant securities Opening Position Disclosures and Dealing Disclosures must be made can be found in the Disclosure Table on the Takeover Panel's website at www.thetakeoverpanel.org.uk, including details of the number of relevant securities in issue, when the offer period commenced and when any offeror was first identified. You should contact the Panel's Market Surveillance Unit on +44 (0)20 7638 0129 if you are in any doubt as to whether you are required to make an Opening Position Disclosure or a Dealing Disclosure.
